local necessitating packaging and sending quilts to whoever they match up with Barbara at a given time. Her interest in “testing” is if it’s viable as a possible back-up plan for RQG rather than becoming the norm.

- Barbara also stressed that not just at RQG, but QOV is a volunteer-based organization, and the previously suggested idea of a monetary incentive for members to long arm QOV quilts is not in line with the organization’s philosophy.

- Manny Caldera’s Workshops – October 11, went well. 10 participants for the morning session, 8 at the afternoon.

 - So far, 7 participants have signed up
 - After extensive discussion regarding pricing, etc., for future workshops and review of Candy’s contract, it was decided that at the October General Meeting next week, Evie will announce that we need to have 20 paid participants (non-members invited) signed up by October 25 or we will have to cancel the workshop.
- It was noted that going forward, speakers should be held to a specific time limit.
